

Government Overthrown On Introduction Of Bill To Amalgamate Railways

J. A. MacLeish And P. F. Vineberg Lead Opposition Forces To Victory In Mock Parliament — Held Last Night In Union Ballroom — R. Flood And B. Waterfield Of Macdonald College Lead Government Forces — Amalgamation Seen As No Cure To Problem — Claim Would Cause Economic Disrupture

LAUNCHING a vigorous and spirited attack on the idea of any amalgamation of the two Canadian railway systems as a cure for the present transportation problem, His Majesty's Loyal Opposition, headed by the Rt. Hon. J. A. MacLeish and the Hon. P. F. Vineberg, ousted the Government by a majority vote of two at the Mock Parliament held last night in the Ballroom of the Union. The Government forces were led by the Rt. Hon. S. R. Flood and B. Waterfield, both of Macdonald College. A. J. Marshall was Clerk of the House.

Bill Introduced
Introducing the Government bill "That this House favours the Amalgamation of the two Canadian railway systems" the Rt. Hon. Robert Flood gave a brief survey of the financial condition of the Dominion. It is a necessity, he stated, that Canada keep her credit intact, so as to be able to float loans abroad and thus develop the country. With a depressing railway problem such as exists today, the possibility of this is doubtful. The Canadian National Railway system annually contracts a deficit of $100,000,000. This financial burden is a terrific one, he stated, and is a serious hindrance to the financial integrity of Canada.

By amalgamation, it has been moderately computed that there will be a saving of some $55,000,000 a year. The speaker went on to criticize the Duff report, which emphasized the continuation of the two competing railway systems and the establishment of a tribunal to regulate affairs so as to bring the greatest cooperation between them. This report is simply shifting this burden on to future generations. Our task, stated the Premier, is to settle the problem now. Another example of the wastefulness of the present system is the duplication of the lines. Through many parts of the country, both systems run their lines very close to each other, involving a waste. Amalgamation would not however decrease, but increase services.

Evil of Unemployment
The Rt. Hon. J. MacLeish, Leader of the Opposition, then took the floor. He stressed the fact that the greatest evil of amalgamation would be to throw 46,000 men out of work, and considering their families, this would mean that some 200,000 people would be without the means of subsistence. What we should do to solve the transportation problem is not to amalgamate the railways but to stimulate our foreign trade and thus increase the traffic of the railway. The Government should endeavour to stimulate trade by an active policy.

Ruinous Subsidy
The Rt. Hon. Basil Waterfield stressed the fact that the unemployment caused by allowing the two railways to continue competing would exceed in a short while that caused by amalgamation. The government is at present subsidizing a railway system that will never pay its own way. This has been a continuous and heavy drain on the taxpayers' pockets. He stressed the advantage of having a monopoly in the railway system like in all other public utilities. Complete efficiency in the railways depends upon the existence of one system. The speaker then went on to discuss the necessity of recapitalization of the C.N.R. and stated that this could only be affected by amalgamation.

No Panacea
The Hon. Philip Vineberg, of the Opposition then took the floor. The whole history of Canadian railways has been one of amalgamation he stated, and yet we still have our railway problem. It has not proved to be a panacea to amalgamate, as history shows us. Moreover amalgamation will not lead to a decrease of lines, but actually an increase. The point is that the deficits of the C.N.R. are due to past debts contracted, and no matter what happens these old debts must be met whether we have amalgamation or not. Figures show that the actual running of the C.N.R. shows a surplus every year.

Lines Actually Congested
Should we scrap our lines, just because in slack seasons they aren't all used? In certain months of the year, the railway lines are actually congested, during the crop movement season, and some of the wheat even has to be moved through Buffalo and New York. Scrapping our lines would only give greater part of Canadian traffic to the United States.

Vineberg then touched lightly on the important factor of bus and truck competition. These have taken a large part of the railways' earnings away from them and amalgamation wouldn't help the case any.

Freshie Debates

Two of the series of Freshie debates will take place this afternoon at 3.30 o'clock in the common room of the R.V.C. The subjects chosen for these debates are light and humorous, and all are requested to turn out to hear them.

Women's Union Novelty Brings Out Large Numbers

Historical Society Elected Executive For This Session

R.V.C. Organization Discussed Plans At Last Night's Meeting

HELEN SAVAGE, R.V.C. '34, was elected President of the R.V.C. Historical Society at its organization meeting held in the R.V.C. Common Room last night. The vice-president is Janet Hamilton, Arts '35, and Marjorie Smith, Arts '36 was elected to post of Secretary-Treasurer.

Plans for the year were discussed, and it was decided to hold regular meetings the first Wednesday of every month, the place of meeting to be the Kappa Alpha Theta House, 3500 Sherbrooke Street. The program will consist of papers read by members of the Club, and special speakers on occasion.

The R.V.C. Historical Society is open to women students honouring in History, and the annual membership fee is $1.50. Refreshments are served at every meeting. All women undergraduates are invited to attend any or all of its meetings.

Trials For Mikado Parts Held Tonight

Meeting In Union Ballroom At 7:30 O'clock

Tryouts for the principal parts in "The Mikado," forthcoming production of the McGill Operatic and Choral Society, will be held tonight, at 7.30, in the Ballroom of the Union. It has been disclosed that Max Ford, of long-standing fame in Revue and Operatic productions, will take one of the leading roles.

All wishing to take part in this new Gilbert and Sullivan opera should turn out tonight for the first rehearsal. The direction is to be taken by Mr. Norris, who is well-known in the city in connection with such work. The men's choral work is to be under the guidance of the Glee Club, who, with their training and season's practising behind them, are expected to provide strength and quality to the production.

Youth Forum

Invites Students

Miss Mary Friedman of the McGill Operatic Society will be the guest soloist at the Emmanuel Youth Forum which will meet on Sunday evening after the regular service in Emmanuel Church. The Forum meets in Stevenon Hall adjoining the church. Animated discussions are a feature of these gatherings and all students are invited to attend with a view to taking part.

Dresses were made by Max Ford, J. Kerr, Leon Smart and others. The motion was then brought before the House, and by a show of hands, the Bill was defeated and the Government thrown from power.

Students Interpret "Two Gentlemen Of Verona" On Friday

FRIDAY NIGHT of this week at eight o'clock students of several of the English classes will interpret one of Shakespeare's earliest plays. The play to be performed is the "Two Gentlemen of Verona." The scenery, costumes, and lighting are all the result of the work of the students of these classes. Admission is free by tickets which can be obtained back of Moyses Hall.

The members of the cast are: Valentine, A. Welder; Proteus, Walter Alford; Speed, Donald Burns; Antonio, M. Davidson; Pantino, Wm. O'Brien; Julia, Audrey Shearer; Lucetta, Joan Skinner; Lonnice, Antony Chapman; Sylvia, Harriet Colby; Duke, R. Sherwood; Thurio, Laird Wilson; Hush, C. Ross; Eglamour, Bernard Harrison; first, second, and third outlaws, M. Hecht, A. Drew, G. Novinger; Singer, Thomas Harvey; Musician, G. McCracken; Urcula, G. Paist.

Great Enthusiasm Shown At Buffet Supper In R.V.C. Hall

CONVOCATION Hall in the Royal Victoria College was the gay scene of a buffet supper last night which was held under the auspices of the Women's Union. The supper, which was primarily held to enable the freshmen to get acquainted with their seniors, was declared a great success from all points of view. Owing to the large response which greeted this innovation it is probable that it will be repeated next year, as the officials in charge were pleased with the enthusiasm shown. Mrs. Vaughan, and the President of the Women's Union, Margaret Miller, expressed satisfaction with the large number present.

Sophomores Entertain
The sophomores were the entertainers of the evening and a varied program was given under the direction of Charlotte Bowman. Phyl Davies, Dorothy Lee, Mary Langstaff, and Charlotte Bowman shared honours in the vocal presentation, while all joined in the singing of various jazz songs. The two features in the evening's entertainment which received the greatest applause from the audience were a burlesque native dance by Lolo Cooke and Jane Smart, and a humorous recitation by Margaret Miller. Betty How played the piano for the singing and Clare Freeman played for the dancing which followed the supper and the entertainment.

Deborah Barbour of the third year was in charge of the refreshments, and the ticket sale for her class, while Janet Clouston of the fourth year, Charlotte Bowman, second year, and Barbara Barker, first year, were responsible for the large number of tickets sold.

Produce Play

Students To Put On A Variety Show

In view of the fact that McGill only contributed three-quarters of its quota in the recent Federated Charities Campaign, a group of students have devised a means of raising some funds to relieve destitution in this city. They propose to produce a Variety Show in the Court Hall of Stanley Church, Westmount. This entertainment will be held on Saturday, December 9th, at 8.00 p.m. Tickets will cost 25 cents, and may be obtained from Bill Gentleman or Bert Yates. Several old favorites of the Red and White Revue will be featured.

C. C. F. Leader To Outline Party Aims

CAPTAIN ELMORE PHILPOTT, President of the Ontario Council of the C.C.F., will address the People's Forum this Sunday afternoon, November 26. His subject will be "The Progress and Policy of the C.C.F."

Capt. Philpott has addressed Montreal audiences previously, and is well-known as a convincing and dynamic speaker. The speaker's discussion of C.C.F. policies is expected to be especially interesting because of his high position in the Party. Students are especially invited to attend this meeting.

Principal Now In Critical State

THE following bulletin was issued on behalf of Sir Arthur Currie's physicians at 11.15 last night at the Royal Victoria Hospital:

"Sir Arthur Currie is still in a critical condition but is somewhat improved as compared with this afternoon. The bronchitis has not extended any more. His temperature and pulse have improved. At the moment he is resting quietly."

Special Show At Palace Features Volcano Pictures

Geology I Students See Krakatoa And Aniakchak

LAST NIGHT the classes of Geology I and Natural Science I were the guests of the Palace Theatre. The theatre party was arranged by Dr. Clark of the Department of Geology in order that the students of Geology could see two volcano pictures, Krakatoa and Aniakchak.

This is the first time a class of the Geology Department of McGill has attended the showing of an educational picture at one of Montreal's theatres. A large audience, composed of students, was on hand.

Dr. Clark pointed out that the showing of these films in addition to the regular features was due to the kindness of Mr. Gene Curtis, manager of the Palace Theatre. After the volcano pictures to the surprise and delight of the audience, a special picture of a trip through the Canadian Rockies was presented.

Pictures Instructive
The two volcano pictures, while entertaining, served as an excellent review for the students of Geology I. The part of the course dealing with volcanoes, lava flows and the effects of volcanoes was thoroughly reviewed on the screen. Both these volcano pictures have been presented at local theatres this season. Due to their educational value, Mr. Curtis agreed to present them again at a special showing in order that McGill students might see them.

Evidence that these pictures were appreciated by the students was given at the end of the performance as the whole audience burst into a rousing McGill cheer. It was pointed out that this is the first time such a concession has been made to McGill students by a Montreal Theatre, and evidence of appreciation was evident on all sides; many students declaring that if all their subjects could be reviewed with such ease college studies would present no problems.

Club Will Consider Aims Of Education

Produce Play

The House of Commons Club will meet this evening at 8.15 in the Reading Room of R.V.C., when Gertrude Cooke will give a paper on "The Aims of Education." She will discuss the aims of modern education, and will tell of the experiments which are being carried on, chiefly in American Universities, to improve upon the present methods. It is of especial interest to note that some of these innovations are the substitutes which are being put forward to take the place of the examination system which is so painfully familiar to McGill students. The meeting will be very informal, with plenty of opportunity for discussion and questions. Mrs. Vaughan is expected to be present, and all women students are cordially invited to attend.

'Broken Vows' Sermon Topic
On Saturday, the 25th, Dr. H. Abramowitz will deliver a sermon entitled "Broken Vows." This address is to be given at the Shaar Hashomayim situated on Kensington Avenue and Cole St. Antoine Road, Westmount. According to the Educational Director of this institution the address will be of interest to students.

French Group Today
There will be a meeting of the French conversational group for third and fourth year students of R.V.C. today, Thursday, at three o'clock promptly. This group forms part of La Societe Francophone, and all those interested are invited to meet in the Common Room of R.V.C.

Prom Orchestra Plays Today At Union Jazz Tea

AFORDING all students an out-standing chance to hear the Prom orchestra, Lew King and his Molsoneers will be on hand today at the Union Cafeteria from 4.45 to 5.45 to grace what is expected to be the outstanding Jazz Tea of the season. This scintillating aggregation of dance musicians is well known and are said to rank in popularity with the best in the city.

Special arrangements will be presented, and it is hoped that all students, both men and women, will take advantage of this opportunity of hearing the Junior Prom band. As this is primarily an occasion for judging the band, there will be no dancing, for Lew King wishes to have the students hear the band, and form their opinions accordingly.

The management of the Cafeteria has prepared an elaborate series of tea-time dishes. Women in particular are advised to make a point in attending.

Announce McGill Quota In Jewish Charities Campaign

Canvassing Starts Monday For Objective Of $250.00

SETTING their objective at $250.00, a committee was organized yesterday afternoon to canvass McGill University as part of the 1933 campaign of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, beginning next Monday. The total objective this year is $312,000, and it is felt that this sum must be realized in order that Federation may carry on its work. Last year there was a deficit of some $90.00 and it must be made up in this campaign.

Edgar H. Cohen has been appointed the head of the committee, and the Faculty Chairman are as follows:

Faculty Chairmen
Arts, Phil Vineberg; Commerce, Gerald Bronfman and Ricky Ein; R.V.C., Beatrice Klineberg; Engineering, Archie Pistreich; Medicine, Albert Lapin; Dentistry, Bernard Rubin; Law, Lionel Rubin.

Collectors have also been appointed in each class, in order that no names be omitted. While there is no limit set either way on the individual contributions, it is expected that everyone will give as much as he or she possibly can, as the campaign must not be allowed to fall short of its objective.

Campaign Must Succeed
The campaign slogan is "You are your brother's keeper," and it is up to the more fortunate members of the community to see to it that those who are in want shall not be allowed to suffer while we can afford to help.

Engineers Meet Paton And Benoit To Deliver Papers

Two papers will be presented at the semi-annual student meeting of the Montreal Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada, which is to take place at the Institute rooms, 2050 Mansfield Street tonight at 8.15. Charles Paton, Engineering III, will have as his subject, "Aeronautic Research."

The second paper, on "Exploitation d'une Carrière," will be delivered by Mr. J. Benoit, S.E.I.C., a graduate of the Ecole Polytechnique, 1933. As this night is devoted to students by the Senior Section, a large turnout from McGill is expected. All students are welcome.

Nominations

INTEREST in student government, at least, seems to have taken an upward swing, for acclamations have appeared to be a thing of the past judging from the returns of nominations yesterday. Only one acclamation is to be recorded, and that in Theology, where no doubt the serenity of life does not engender great interest in the hubbub of student activity.

Whether this is a result of the recent appeal published in this column we cannot say, but we cannot but express our surprise and gratitude at the state of affairs which we see before us. Seldom is there such competition for student office; seldom has there been such a great number of nominees.

We feel that this may be the beginning of a revival of interest in student affairs in the University, and we hope that, after this effort, the student body will not sink into lethargic indifference.

R.V.C. Shows Them Up

LAST night, as is reported elsewhere in this paper, the Women's Union held a buffet supper. They provided entertainment of an impromptu, yet highly diverting nature, and managed to keep the price of admission down to a scale which was within the range of all women students. It was estimated that practically the whole body of women students was present.

This we regard as an occasion which can do nothing but exemplify the feeling of men students towards their own entertainments. From all reports this affair of the Women's Union was far in advance of men's attractions in many ways, of which attendance alone need be mentioned. Furthermore it was the first attempt of its kind, and was by way of an experiment. Yet day by day various functions are held in the Union and elsewhere by various male clubs, or organized by male students which are sparsely attended, and often fail miserably.

Surely, if only for the sake of the good name of our male students, we should be able to do as well, at least, as our R.V.C. contemporaries.

At The Feet Of Gamaliel

ONE of the most broadening and stimulating aspects of a college education is found in the opportunities which offer themselves to students of meeting their professors outside the class-room where relations can be on a more personal and natural basis. Many lasting and mutually edifying friendships can be formed between professor and student when they are able to get acquainted away from the cold and formal atmosphere of the lecture hall.

We feel, too, that the advantages of the fellowship are reciprocal, for the professors are in this manner better able to catch the tempo of the students and appreciate their point of view. It seems quite logical to think that a better understanding between learner and learned reach through congenial "extra-mural" fellowship would be conducive to greater progress within the class.

There are all too few opportunities for such contacts to be made on this campus which is certainly to be deplored. Certain organizations do provide occasions of such a nature, but it is the duty of the student himself to create opportunities so that he may make these so necessary contacts. Freshmen are told upon entering the university that they have been assigned a professor to whom they may take their problems. All too few take advantage of this opportunity which will gain them the advice, friendship, and sympathy of a man who has had experience in the problems of life.

Is it any great task for the student to arrange a meeting with his instructor beyond the confines of the classroom? Stop and consider the value of the relationship established. You may often see, when passing the office of some professor, a visitor there, a man who may be a successful lawyer today. That man gained a friend at the university whom he has never forgotten; and who has never forgotten him.

Don't stop at being able to recognize one or two of your professors when you see them outside. They are not simply figures in a classroom to teach you and possibly bore you. He is human, and a friend well worth the trouble of seeking out.

THE MANIAC

By Ramsbottom Horseley

She Learned About Men From Me!

The Inside Story of Mac "Hips" West as told by Ramsbottom "Hurray" Horseley

CICERO, ILL. — After ten hours grilling by officials of the Municipal Cooking School, during which she was beaten with lengths of silk hose and sections of lead pencil, Miss Little West 59th Street broke down early yesterday evening and confessed that she was really Ramsbottom Horseley, the man with a thousand faces and six fingers on each hand. Miss Little West 59th Street is being held by Constables Prysky, Prysky, Prysky, and Schwartz, Inc., Hey-Hey, Grain, and Chicken-Feed Dealers, on charges laid by Corporal Exposures, General Nuisance, and Orderly Conduct. Miss Little West 59th Street is charged with corporal exposure and creating a public nuisance. According to the evidence of Constables Prysky, Prysky, Prysky, and Schwartz, Miss Little West 59th Street was standing in front of a cigar store in the downtown section selling copies of "Yom Kippur Morn", a picture which has been banned from public consumption throughout the United States. The picture is said to be painted on clay or cement tablets known to the trade as "Matzo", and shows the figures of three nude buoys floating in water. Prominent critics say the picture is symbolic and represents three champagne bottles without the basketwork. The basketwork has been used for straw in making the bricks upon which the picture is painted.

The bride is by Lochinvar Street out of Isaiah 59th. dam. Lochinvar Street came out of The West by Miss Little. Hence the prizewinner's name. At first Miss Little West 59th Street denied the charges categorically, but finally her dismembered body was sent to her in a trunk, and she broke down. Constables Prysky got out and tried to crank her, while Constable Prysky looked at the park plugs. Constable Prysky meanwhile reported that the battery was in good shape. Then Constable Schwartz dropped a match in the gas tank and to their surprise they found that they had simply run out of gas.

Questioned as to her doings on the night in question, Miss Street reported that a man named Anthony Beinstock had approached her and bought one of the pictures. After nibbling at one corner he declared that the picture violated the Pure Food Laws, and summoned Constables Prysky, Prysky, Prysky, and Schwartz.

Questioned as to her connection with Mae "Hips" West, wanted at the Paramount Studios for contributing to semile delinquency Miss Street, or Mr. Horseley, as she is known, reported that in October, 1929, she was sitting in an East Side speakeasy with Miss West watching the ticker tape. Suddenly Miss West bent over and studied the tape carefully. Then she said in a low voice, speaking, apparently to the tape:

"I like your type. Why don't you come up sometime?"

Upon hearing this, Mr. Horseley went into convulsions. At the time the shooting took place. Convulsion's was crowded, and Angelo Convulsion himself, popularly known as Flitz to the patrons, was asleep under the bar.

The party then retired to Mr. Horseley's penthouse when Miss Street was seen to act in a peculiar manner and seemed to have something on her mind. Finally she stuck her head around a corner where Mr. Horseley was sitting and knocked at the door. Mr. Horseley said, "Come in." Miss Street then said "Is this the Horseley Club Suit and Pent House?" It was then that the shooting took place.

Detours To Parnassus

To You Who Died November 11, 1933

It would be little joy for you to see
What we have found—
Your's is the only soldier's victory:
Beneath the ground.

It would be little bliss to see begotten
An empty fate
To those you loved, since men have not forgotten
The way to hate!

To see that all you did was to bequeath
A sword or staff
Some officer might hold, and meanwhile wreathe
A cenotaph;

To hear those maudlin eulogies beguile
The calm content
Of patriots who heap their lethal pile
Of armament.

That agony would be but passing show,
But little pain,
Compared to all that you would feel, to know
You died in vain.

The Tavern

Wise Omar knew what joys there lay beyond the Tavern doors agape,
And oft, I deem, would bear therein his worthy philosophic shape;
And stout Sir John, of mighty girth,
Would move his gallants all to mirth,
And at the Garter Inn or Boar's-Head pay his homage to the grape.
Tabard Inn and Mermaid Tavern! Beakers full and goblets flowing;
Globe and Mitre! Wit and ale, wine and wisdom cheaply bought.
Whence the Tavern's mighty force to set the mind of man thus going,
Carving images of grace from huge and massy slabs of thought?
As the sunlight, striking prisms, splits in divers lovely rays,
Imagination, on the goblet, breaks and spreads a score of ways.
All is welcome in the Tavern! Be it politics or art,
Philosophy or logic wish ye? Draw your darling to your heart.
Psyche's temple is the Tavern, Psyche's grove and Psyche's shrine;
Here the soul is wafted wanton with the winds of whim its guide—

Wafted through a maze of thought and where it wists it may recline

Bending God-like contemplation on whatever it has decried.

(Where sleeps the silent thrush, and through the trees

Winks the iced beauty of the fragment moon,
Where lilac scent is borne athwart the breeze,
Then knows the mortal that, beside him, soon
The honeyed muse will softly, softly croon.
—Or love or palsy will be her theme—
Swift Inspiration grants her gracious boon
And Fancy leads Love onward with her gleam.—
Then every earthly wight may dream a poet's dream.)

(In Parliament dwells Politics and weighty matters of the state,

Ideals and statistics vie as local dog-aggress debate;
And where the pale pedants roam
The learned Arts must make their home
And nestle in their cloistered ease amid the pedagogic prate.)

But every Science, every Art, comes trooping in the Tavern door;
The Poet sees his angel's shape, the Statesman hammers out his lore.

Muscle's bower and Logic shrine
Bubble in the frothing stein;
Barnaid and sweet Psyche hear: mind and body both cry "More!"

Rhapsody In Blue

The hush (the pause that drops upon the room
Before the artist breaks the ether's gloom)
Is shattered when the first low trill makes brave
To essay out upon the radio's wave.
The studio's waiting; 'tis the crucial time.
It starts so low—they slowly watch it climb
Into a smooth and rippling run; it takes
The gay crescendo nimbly note to note,
Recalling words an unknown hand once wrote.

But on and on; it leaves no time to stop
And ponder; up and up right to the top
Of all that wondrous theme it goes.
—But now a pause, the music slows,
And soft into the famed andante steals.

The hardest, unromantic list'ner feels
The surge. The tempo quickens, brilliant chords
Paint pictures needing neither hues nor words.

As chord on chord goes smashing through the night
In rhythm compelling, melody so bright,
You hear a voice that breathes when comes a rest
"How grand—'tis Gershwin at his best!"

The BOOKSHELF

THE CANADIAN STUDENT, October 1935. Published by the Student Christian Movement of Canada at Toronto.

The latest issue of this magazine, which has been given quite a boost on the campus lately, is quite an indicative one. It contains, in addition to articles on timely topics, several discussions of problems of a religious nature which face the average college student.

The opening editorial is more or less introductory, pointing out the discrepancies which we are forced to face between our civilization, and our belief in religion. An article on "The Freshman and his Religion" brings out a rather interesting point of view in regard to the connection between college life and work, and religion. The author also points out the fact that a study or discussion group cannot hope to bring out the student's real point of view, and that it takes a "bull-session" to really make him express his opinions.

An article on the European situation by W. J. Rose, a Professor at Dartmouth who travelled on the continent during the summer, contains nothing very much that has not been printed or said before. A discussion of the value, aims, and procedure of Bible study, by Howard Alexander, the reports of the various conferences, a few book reviews, and two or three short poems complete the magazine.

From a technical point of view, the "Canadian Student" is an excellent production. It is well laid out, there are few if any typographical errors, and the print is easily readable. Altogether it should fill a place of some sort in the realm of campus publications, for it seems that the articles will maintain a level such as would interest students generally.

REVIEWS

At Victoria Hall "Kampus Kinks"

PAOED rapidly, and running with a smoothness that is usually lacking in amateur performances, the Minstrel Show by the Brotherhood of Temple Emanuel-El, "Kampus Kinks" was presented last night at Victoria Hall to a well filled house. The features of the program were popular songs and dances, presented however with such excellent spirit and force as to gain, in most cases, new interest and value. The comedy, purveyed mainly by the four endmen, was very much in harmony with the remainder of the program, being rarely very new, occasionally too obvious, I fear, but put across with the same freshness that made the evening so entertaining.

The much maligned theme of campus football plus co-eds and a professor was here colored by the creation of a student body of dark-skinned individuals. The make-up of the chorus and principals was convincing, and well done, though not entirely even. The chorus itself was the prize winner of the evening, for its singing. Its unity and good tone were surprising and added immeasurably to the songs of the evening. The dance routines were well rehearsed, and while hardly striking, did not lack in rhythm.

Individual performances in the show granted honours to Thelma Aaron, Edith Bye, Connie Carin, Hilda Galt, and Jason Neumann, the last for a very clever rendering of "Home Beyond the River". The few tedious scenes of the show, the curtain-front prologue to the second act, its immediate successor, a poorly enunciated "radio talk, and then the perversion of poor Victor Herbert had no deleterious effect upon the rest of the show, which was, as already suggested, the best of entertainment.

Farquharson Scores Twice To Down Canadiens 2-0

McHugh Plays Well To Register Initial Shutout

Royals And Vics Divide Honors With 2-2 Draw — Roland Beaudry Gives Brilliant Display In Vics' Nets — McGill's Win Gives Them Two Point Lead In Group Race — "Shag" Farmer, Get Assists

MCGILL took a firm hold on the Senior Group lead last night by downing Canadiens 2-0 in a hard fought struggle. The Redmen are now a full two points to the good, having grabbed themselves three points in last night's contest while Royals and Vics divided honors on their night's work, the final score being 2-2.

Two bright stars of the night's play were Roland Beaudry and Hughie Farquharson. Beaudry, playing his first regular game since he retired from the monied ranks several years ago, was the real reason that Vics did so well against the highly rated Royals. His work in the maroon shirt's cage was little short of miraculous as he blocked shot after shot from St. Germain, Neville and Company. In the final period he held Don Peniston's firing lines out of the scoring column with one of the best goaling displays shown in the Forum in some time.

Farquharson took the ice suffering from a cold but his play didn't suffer any. He scored both of McGill's goals, one in the second period on a pass from Frank Shaughnessy and the other in the final session on Kenny Farmer's assist. Farquharson was just as effective defensively as he was on the offense. His backchecking and his work on the defence when McGill were short-handed saved his team numerous times. Canadiens played better hockey than they have shown previously this season but once McGill registered their first goal the Frenchmen were no match for them. During the first period play was rather dull with both teams checking closely and avoiding any unnecessary chances but the final two sessions were full of excitement.

Crutchfield Plays Well The Redmen played lifeless hockey until "Farquhar" gave them the one goal lead but once they gained the advantage they jumped into action with a bang. Nels Crutchfield led numerous sorties into Canadiens' territory but fell victim to Archambault's goal-tending on a number of dangerous rushes. Once he worked his way through the whole team and was within ten feet of the net but Archambault managed to get his pads in the way of the shot. In the final period "Crutchie" was all over the ice, backchecking with a will to save off Canadiens' desperate attempts to break into the scoring.

Hollie McHugh played a stellar game between the posts for Bobby Bell's charges. His first shutout of the season was a well-earned one. Time after time McHugh flicked out shots from the sticks of the fast travelling French forwards that looked as if they had him beaten and his save on Roger Gaudette's low drive when the dark-haired Canuck was in the clear after taking a pass that caught the defence off guard was sensational. Gaudette took his time and blazed away at the corner but McHugh dropped on the shot and smothered it to keep his record clean. A high flip shot almost beat the Red custodian, striking him on the shoulder and falling behind him but he managed to grab it and avert a score.

"Shag" Gives Assist The combination efforts of the Farmer-Farquharson-Robertson line were the best shown by either team. All three played heads-up hockey all the way. They missed several likely looking counters on passing attacks that carried them right in only to run foul of Archambault. Farquharson's first tally came mid-way through the middle session when "Shag" broke up a Canadian rush at his own blue line and headed for Canuck territory at top speed, flanked by Robertson and Farmer. Just as he reached the defence Shaughnessy stopped and drew the Canadian defencemen over, leaving Farquharson alone in front of the net. He promptly slipped the puck ahead to the waiting Red player who banged a high shot past Archambault into the top of the net.

Jack McGill made a nice solo try with his team a man short, getting right in alone but hitting the post when he had Archambault beaten. Hall was visiting the timers when McGill made his attempt.

Farquharson Farmer Combine Farquharson registered his second goal shortly after the start of the final frame when he got possession of the rubber in the centre ice area and passed to Farmer who bored right in and shot, the rebound falling right in front of the goal mouth from where Farquharson made it count. It was a nice passing effort on the part of both players.

Gaudette, Berger and Pilon stood out on the Canuck attack but couldn't get back into the running once McGill had them down. Berger was a constant menace to McGill's security with his hustling attempts but he ran into considerable difficulty with Meiklejohn in particular and the whole Red team in general, absorbing a good deal of punishment for his efforts.

Red Team All Effective For McGill Farquharson, Crutchfield, McGill and Meiklejohn stood out but the whole team worked well once they got under way. Hall and Shaughnessy turned in good games on the rear-guard both rushing and blocking well. Farmer and Robertson combined well with Farquharson while Elie and Lamb were effective.

McGill: McHugh, goal; Meiklejohn, Hall, defence; Crutchfield, centre; McGill, Elie, wings; Farmer, Farquharson, Robertson, Lamb. Canadiens: Archambault, goal; Arcand, Pilon, defence; Reeves, centre; Gaudette, Berger, wings; Poutre, La-londe, Poirier, Lafleur, Robert. Summary:

First Period No score. Penalty: Crutchfield.

Don Young Only Collegian Chosen For All-Star Team

DON YOUNG, flying wing of the McGill Rugby aggregation was the only representative of the intercollegiate teams chosen by famous sports writers for the classic all-Eastern team of 1933, it was announced by the Canadian Press. McGill's captain, brilliant on the secondary defence, was one of the chief reasons for the showing made by that team in the intercollegiate. He is rated as the best flying wing in the union today.

Young stepped into the berth of flying wing in the all-Eastern team with ease, scoring twelve first team votes and four second of the twenty-three selectors. He was also the only man from the college loop on the first team of 1933. This year's second team has several of the intercollegiate stars within its ranks, however. Varsity obtained outside and half in Henderson and Sinclair. Queen's and Western drew one berth each, Zvonkin and Veroni receiving middle and inside respectively on the second team.

Senior Water Poloists Preparing For Varsity

WITH POLOISTS

BOB FREEMAN regular snap on the senior football team has made his appearance with the water polo squad and his presence will boost McGill's hopes considerably for the coming series with Varsity.

Coach Farmer Well Pleased With Team

R.V.C. Hockey Mentor Expects To Have Strong Squad

R. V. C. hockeyists held their second practice of the season yesterday afternoon in the Arena. There was a large turn-out and the practice itself was very encouraging. A great deal of enthusiasm has been shown this year by upperclassmen and freshettes alike. Consequently, the practices have been far more keen and the brand of hockey has greatly improved. Coach Farmer has expressed himself as very well pleased with the outlook so far, and mentioned one or two freshettes, who with a little practice ought to develop into very good players.

Babs Goulding was out at the practice yesterday displaying her old high standard of playing. Her presence speeded up the game and inspired the freshettes to do their utmost. The freshettes who look to be the best so far are Ruth Sneyly, a girl from Montreal West, who really looks as if she could play hockey. Jean Buchanan and Cary Horner. The attendance so far has been very good and it is hoped that the girls will continue to show the same enthusiasm.

rier banquet is Tuesday, December 5 at the Queen's Hotel. If any member of either team has not informed F. J. Nobbs, W.E. 4616, of his intention to attend, will he please do so as soon as possible.

ARCHERY CLUB Meeting to be held on Thursday at 5.00 in the R.V.C. Common Room. All girls who signed and others interested are cordially invited.

ENGINEERING 2 Will the following and any others interested please turn out for class basketball tonight at 5 p.m. in the Montreal High Boys' Gym: Brundage, Ramsay, Henry, Clarke, Edson, Benson, Wake, McGregor, Newell, Nixon.

JUNIOR HOCKEY Will Pacaud, Kerr, Wilson, Loftis, Dickenson, Probert, Lang, Jones, Kerrigan, Grier, W. O'Brien, S. O'Brien, Kennedy, McLernon, Grossman, McDonald, McDonald, Gorman, turn out at the Forum at 1.30 this afternoon.

WATER POLO The water polo game which was scheduled for tonight has been cancelled because of illness of members of the K. of C. tank.

Game With Columbus Cancelled Because Of Illness

Juniors Will Play Exhibition Game Instead At K. of C. Tank

DUE to the illness in the Columbus team the regular scheduled water polo game with McGill has been postponed. Instead McGill juniors will play the McGill seniors in an exhibition match.

With the first match of their home-and-home intercollegiate series against Toronto Varsity just around the corner, on December 2nd to be exact, George Vickerson's senior charges have settled down with all seriousness to the task of rounding themselves in to condition for what they intend to make their championship series, insofar as the intercollegiate title is concerned.

Toronto Won Last Year

This year, the Redmen invade Toronto for the initial match of the series, receiving the Blueboys the following week at the Columbus tank. The advantage should therefore tend towards the side of the Red team, since the home tank waters will feature the concluding and usually deciding match of the series. Last season, opening play got under way at the McGill swimming quarters, where the Redmen promptly annexed a goal margin over their Blue rivals. The following week, however, the McGill poloists went down to defeat before the Toronto natators in the unfamiliar Hart House pool. The margin of victory on this occasion was four goals, with the result that titular honors went to the Blueboys.

For the past two years this title has been in the possession of the Queen City poloists, and the Redmen therefore consider it high time that this championship should revert to their own headquarters. At one time during the existence of the Water Polo Club, prosperous days in truth for the Red poloists, a virtual monopoly of the championship was held by the McGill men. For thirteen long years, from 1910, the year of inception of this sport in intercollegiate realms, until 1926, excluding the war years, the Red teams were the unquestioned rulers of the roost. From then on, however, the Blue colors have been carried to the fore on five occasions, the Redmen succeeding but twice in this respect.

Skinner Replaces Shaw Team prospects for the intercollegiate series appear to be superior if anything to those of the past season. Bob Shaw, a capable defenceman on the 1932 aggregation is the only absentee from the regular line-up this season. There should be no weakness in this department, nevertheless, since a worthy successor to that position has been found in Skinner, a newcomer hailing from University of Saskatchewan, who lacks neither brawn nor brain in the matter of polo tactics. The conclusion of the rugby season

RED & WHITE REVUE

Applications will be accepted for the heads and assistants of the following committees:

Music, Scenery, Stage, Lighting, Costumes, Property, House, Tickets, Program, Publicity. Those interested should apply in writing or meet the Executive in the Revue Office in the Union this Thursday afternoon between 4 and 5.

The Columbus team. Instead the juniors will play the seniors at 8.15 in cancelled because of illness of members of the K. of C. tank.

has returned Bob Freeman to the fold. His fine playmaking was largely responsible for the initial win chalked up by the Red team in the opening match of last season's series, and he appears to have lost none of that ability, judging from his play in the workout sessions. His particular knack seems to lie in deflect shots and those of the flip variety which are always a source of worry to the goaler.

Stein Playing Well

Stein, veteran centre of the senior squad, is well up in form this year, speed and a powerful shot being his main attributes. Opposing centres in the city league have been hard put during this season in their endeavors to gain possession of the ball on the opening plays, since Stein manages on most occasions to beat out the opposition on the face-offs.

French, McLean, Shapiro and Shragovitch, city league seniors of intercollegiate calibre, are all eligible for the Varsity series. Coach Vickerson therefore, should have no worries about aggregating a smart line-up, especially too, since some of his junior players would have no difficulty in holding their own in senior company, should the occasion arise.

Added to this, the McGill squad can boast of the best goalkeeper in city league play, none other than Chuck Wayland, whose smart work between the goalposts has nullified many a scoring threat in past local and intercollegiate contests.
